The AWD! Place

ACTION: Bill and Rodney look to each other

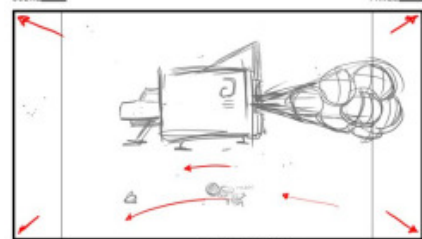

ACTION: Fink/Fornster pop up before

ACTION: That camera did it

ACTION: He gets Bill's attention

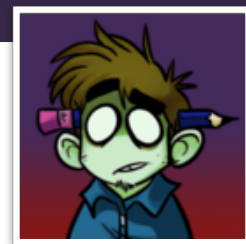

ACTION: Zoom out to see Tulsa Christine sees behind it

I honestly dunno how much I can reveal about me working with Joel in 2011 on the MST3K revival, what I worked on was MUCH different from what they eventually did for the Kickstarter. But what the hell, here we go.

Bill Hader was originally cast as the new experiment/host at the time. Originally all the previous characters were involved (Brain Guy, Perl, even Pitch the Devil etc) Joel provided me with concept art and rough passes of what he was planning and it was very busy. Even inclusion of a fourth robot named 'Rodney'. Suffice to say, it was pretty heavy.

Here are some rough panels I did, and I never got to a cleaner phase than what I showed him. The space truck you see is the "Tulsa" which I'm more sure than anything is the same ship seen in the trailer for Netflix they just showed off for Season 11.

After a few passes the project was put on hold. I was contacted again before the Kickstarter happened, but I was recovering from doing 3 jobs at once before hand and I was incredibly tired and couldn't do it. Working with Joel was awesome, it was hard considering we were working together at a distance and discussed through phone calls and emails with many changes to the board from time to time, but I hope I did what he asked. XD
